DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Grandma's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur dardens so naturally that nobody can tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or turns faded, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

"Too Weak to Walk"

Lost all strength after years of suffering

"Wincarnis gave me renewed strength and vim," writes Mrs. T. R. Crane of St. Johnland, Kings Park, Long Island, N. Y.

"A friend told me that what I needed was Wincarnis, that it would be the best thing in the world for me. I took Wincarnis and much to my surprise it helped me in every way and did it quickly. I soon gained new flesh and blood, strength and vim. I feel like a new man. I always keep Wincarnis on hand for I found it a friend, tried and true."

Wincarnis is sold in Norwich by National Drug Stores, Main and Shotucket Streets, and all first-class druggists.
